INFORMATION CONCERNING INVESTMENT RISK

Noteholders and prospective purchasers of Notes should ensure that they understand the nature of the Notes and the extent of their exposure to risk and that they consider the suitability of the Notes as an investment in the light of their own circumstances and financial condition. The amount payable or the number of ETFs deliverable on redemption of the Notes is linked to the performance of the ETF (as defined herein). Given the highly specialised nature of these Notes, Morgan Stanley B.V. (the "Issuer"), Morgan Stanley & Co. International plc ("MSI plc" or the "Dealer") consider that they are only suitable for highly sophisticated investors who are able to determine for themselves the risk of an investment linked to each ETF, are willing to take risks and can absorb the partial or complete loss of their initial investment. Consequently, if you are not an investor who falls within the description above you should not consider purchasing these Notes without taking detailed advice from a specialised professional adviser.

Potential investors are urged to consult with their legal, regulatory, investment, accounting, tax and other advisors with regard to any proposed or actual investment in these Notes. Please see the Offering Circular for a full detailed description of the Notes and in particular, please review the section of the Offering Circular entitled “Risk Factors Relating to the Program Securities”. Investing in the Notes entails certain risks including, but not limited to, the following:

- Adjustment and Discontinuation Risk: The terms and conditions of the Notes will allow the Determination Agent to make adjustments or take any other appropriate action if circumstances occur where each ETF or any exchanges are affected by market disruption, adjustment events or circumstances affecting normal activities of the issuer of each ETF or the relevant exchange(s). In such circumstances, the Determination Agent can determine whether to redeem the Notes early, or adjust the terms of the Notes, which may include adjustments to the initial price or even each ETF. Potential investors should review the Offering Circular for a detailed description of potential adjustment events and adjustments.
- Credit Risk: The holder of the Notes will be exposed to the credit risk of the Issuer and the Guarantor.
- No Principal Protection: The principal amount is not protected. Potential investors run the risk that they may receive an amount which is significantly less than their initial investment.
- Exit Risk: The secondary market price of the Notes will depend on many factors, including the value and volatility of each ETF, the price of each ETF at any time on any day and the time left until the maturity of the Notes and the creditworthiness of the Issuer. The secondary market price may be lower than the market value of the issued Notes as at the Issue Date to take into account amounts paid to distributors and other intermediaries relating to the issue and sale of the Notes as well as amounts relating to the hedging of the Issuer's obligations. As a result of all of these factors, the holder may receive an amount in the secondary market which may be less than the then intrinsic market value of the Note and which may also be less than the amount the holder would have received had the holder held the Note through to maturity.
- Exchange Rate Risk and Exchange Control Risk: An investment in a Note denominated in currencies other than the investor's home currency or the currency selected for payments entails significant risks including the possibility of significant changes in rates of exchange between its home currency (or the currency for payment) and the other relevant currencies, which could be highly volatile, and the possibility of the imposition or modification of exchange controls by the relevant governmental authorities. In addition, changes in exchange rates relating to any of the relevant currencies could result in a decrease in its effective yield and in the investor's loss of all or a substantial portion of the value of that Note. Governments have imposed from time to time, and may in the future impose, exchange controls that could also affect the availability of a relevant currency. Even if there are no actual exchange controls, it is possible that the applicable currency for any security would not be available when payments on that security are due.
- Hedging Risk: On or prior to and after the Trade Date, the Issuer, through its affiliates or others, will likely hedge its anticipated exposure under the Notes by taking positions in the ETF, in option contracts on the ETF or positions in any other available securities or instruments. In addition, the Issuer and its affiliates trade the ETF as part of their general businesses. Any of these activities could potentially affect the value of the ETF including on the Determination Date, and accordingly, could significantly affect the payout to holders on the Notes.
- Liquidity Risk: The Dealer will make a secondary market in the Notes on a reasonable efforts basis only and subject to market conditions, law, regulation and internal policy. The liquidity of the Notes reflects the liquidity of each ETF and even whilst there may be a secondary market in the Notes it may not be liquid enough to facilitate a sale by the holder.

- No Shareholder Rights: A holder of Notes will have no beneficial interest in or any voting rights and will not have the right to receive dividends or other distributions with respect to the ETF.
- Potential Conflict of Interest: The Determination Agent is an affiliate of the Issuer and the economic interests of the Determination Agent may be adverse to the interests of holders of the Notes. Determinations made by the Determination Agent, including in the event of a market disruption may affect the amount payable to holders pursuant to the terms of the Notes.
- Underlying Issuer Risk: The issuer of the ETF is not an affiliate of the Issuer or its affiliates and is not involved with this offering in any way. Consequently, the Issuer and the Determination Agent have no ability to control the actions of the Issuer of the ETF, including any rebalancing that could trigger an adjustment to the terms of the Notes by the Determination Agent.
- Market Risk: Customers are exposed to the political, economic, currency and other risks related to the synthetic ETFs underlying index.
- Counterparty Risk: Where a synthetic ETF invests in derivatives to replicate the index performance, customers are exposed to the credit risk of the counterparties who issued the derivatives, in addition to the risks relating to the index. Further, potential contagion and concentration risks of the derivative issuers should be taken into account (e.g. since derivative issuers are predominantly international financial institutions, the failure of one derivative counterparty of a synthetic ETF may have a “knock-on” effect on other derivative counterparties of the synthetic ETF). Some synthetic ETFs have collateral to reduce the counterparty risk, but there may be a risk that the market value of the collateral has fallen substantially when the synthetic ETF seeks to realize the collateral.
- Liquidity Risk: A higher liquidity risk is involved if a synthetic ETF involves derivatives which do not have an active secondary market. Wider bid-offer spreads in the price of the derivatives may result in losses.
- Tracking Error: There may be disparity between the performance of the synthetic ETF and the performance of the underlying index due to, for instance, failure of the tracking strategy, currency differences, fees and expenses.
- Trading at a discount or premium: Where the index/market that the synthetic ETF tracks is subject to restricted access, the efficiency in unit creation or redemption to keep the price of the synthetic ETF in line with its net asset value (NAV) may be disrupted, causing the synthetic ETF to trade at a higher premium or discount to its NAV. Investors who buy a synthetic ETF at a premium may not be able to recover the premium in the event of termination.

In purchasing any Notes, purchasers will be deemed to represent and undertake to the Issuer, the Dealer and each of their affiliates that (i) such purchaser understands the risks and potential consequences associated with the purchase of the Notes, (ii) that such purchaser has consulted with its own legal, regulatory, investment, accounting, tax and other advisers to extent it believes is appropriate to assist it in understanding and evaluating the risks involved in, and the consequences of, purchasing the Notes.

Morgan Stanley is not qualified to give legal, tax or accounting advice to its clients and does not purport to do so in this Pricing Supplement. Clients are urged to seek the advice of their own professional advisers about the consequences of the proposals contained herein.
