Neither the Issuer nor any Distribution Agent has authorised, nor do they authorise, the making of any offer of Notes in any other circumstances.

Information Concerning Investment Risk

Noteholders and prospective purchasers of Notes should ensure that they understand the nature of the Notes and the extent of their exposure to risk and that they consider the suitability of the Notes as an investment in the light of their own circumstances and financial condition. The amount payable on redemption of the Notes is linked to the performance of the Underlying (as defined herein), and may be less than par. The Notes are not secured debt and are riskier than ordinary debt securities. Investing in the Notes is not equivalent to directly investing in the Underlying. Given the highly specialised nature of these Notes, the Issuer, the Guarantor and the Dealer consider that they are only suitable for highly sophisticated investors who are able to determine for themselves the risk of an investment in the Notes and who are willing to take such risks. Consequently, if you are not an investor who falls within the description above you should not consider purchasing these Notes without taking detailed advice from a specialised professional adviser.

Potential investors are urged to consult with their legal, regulatory, investment, accounting, tax and other advisors with regard to any proposed or actual investment in the Notes and to review the Offering Circular. Please see the Offering Circular, together with this Pricing Supplement, for a full detailed description of the Notes, and in particular, please review the Risk Factors associated with these Notes. Investing in the Notes entail certain risks including, but not limited to, the following:

Structure Specific Risks

The Notes do not guarantee the return of any principal. The terms of the Notes differ from those of ordinary debt securities in that the Notes do not guarantee the return of any of the principal amount at maturity. At maturity, you will receive an amount per Note that you hold, an amount in cash that depends upon the Final Reference Rate. If the Reference Rate decreases to below the Strike, you will receive an amount in cash that is less than the USD 1,000 principal amount of each Note by an amount proportionate to the decline in level of the Reference Rate below the Strike, and you could lose a significant amount of money on your investment. A very small absolute percentage-point change in the Reference Rate over the term of the Notes can result in a significant loss on the Notes. You could lose up to 100% of your investment in the Notes.

Investors will not participate in any increase in the Reference Rate. Investors will not participate in any increase in the Reference Rate over the term of the Notes and the return on the Notes will be limited to the Rate of Interest that is paid on each Interest Payment Date.

The appreciation potential is fixed and limited. Where the Final Reference Rate is greater than or equal to the Strike, the appreciation potential of the Notes is limited to the Rate of Interest, even if the Final Reference Rate is significantly greater than the Strike.

Reference Rate Specific Risks

The historical performance of the Reference Rate is not an indication of future performance. The historical performance of the Reference Rate should not be taken as an indication of future performance during the term of the Notes. Changes in the levels of the Reference Rate will affect the trading price of the Notes, but it is impossible to predict whether such levels will rise or fall. There can be no assurance that the Reference Rate will not decline below the Strike on the Determination Date, in which case you will lose money on your investment.

The Reference Rate will be affected by a number of factors. A number of factors can affect the Reference Rate, including but not limited to: (i) changes in, or perceptions, about the future Reference Rate; (ii) general economic conditions: the economic, financial, political, regulatory and judicial events that affect financial markets generally will affect the Reference Rate; (iii) prevailing interest rates: the Reference Rate is subject to daily fluctuations depending on prevailing interest rates in the market generally; and (iv) policies of the governing bodies regarding interest rates. These and other factors may have a negative impact on the Final Redemption Amount and on the value of the Notes prior to maturity.

The Reference Rate may be volatile. The Reference Rate is subject to volatility due to a variety of factors affecting interest rates generally, including but not limited to: (i) sentiment regarding the EU and global economies; (ii) expectations regarding the level of price inflation; (iii) sentiment regarding credit quality in the EU and global credit markets; (iv) central bank policy regarding interest rates; and (v) performance of capital markets. The Reference Rate may be volatile, and even a very small absolute change in the Reference Rate over the term of the Notes can result in a significant loss on the Notes. Accordingly, volatility of the Reference Rate may adversely affect your return on the securities.

Market / Exit Specific Risks

The price at which the Notes may be sold prior to maturity will depend on a number of factors and may be substantially less than the amount for which they were originally purchased. Some of these factors include, but are not limited to: (i) actual or anticipated changes in the level of the Reference Rate, (ii) volatility of the level of the Reference Rate, (iii) changes in interest rates and yields, (iv) any actual or anticipated changes in our credit ratings or credit spreads and (v) time remaining to maturity. Depending on the actual or anticipated level of the Reference Rate, the market value of the Notes may decrease, and you may receive substantially less than 100% of the Issue Price if you are able to sell your securities prior to maturity.

The rate we are willing to pay for Notes of this type, maturity and issuance size is likely to be lower than the rate implied by our secondary market credit spreads and advantageous to us. Both the lower rate and the inclusion of costs associated with issuing, selling, structuring and hedging the securities in the original Issue Price reduce the economic terms of the Notes and will adversely affect secondary market prices. Assuming no change in market conditions or any other relevant factors, the prices, if any, at which dealers, including the Dealer, are willing to purchase the Notes in secondary market transactions will likely be lower than the original Issue Price, because secondary market prices will exclude the issuing, selling, structuring and hedging-related costs that are included in the original Issue Price and borne by you and because the secondary market prices will reflect our secondary market credit spreads and the bid-offer spread that any dealer would charge in a secondary market transaction of this type, the costs of unwinding the related hedging transactions as well as other factors. The inclusion of the costs of issuing, selling, structuring and hedging the Notes in the original Issue Price and the lower rate we are willing to pay as Issuer make the economic terms of the securities less favorable to you than they otherwise would be.

Liquidity Risk

The Notes will not be listed on any securities exchange and secondary trading may be limited. The Notes will not be listed on any organized securities exchange. Therefore, there may be little or no secondary market for the Notes. The Dealer may, but is not obligated to, make a market in the Notes and, if it once chooses to make a market, may cease doing so at any time. When it does make a market, it will generally do so for transactions of routine secondary market size at prices based on its estimate of the current value of the Notes, taking into account its bid/offer spread, our credit spreads, market volatility, the notional size of the proposed sale, the cost of unwinding any related hedging positions, the time remaining to maturity and the likelihood that it will be able to resell the Notes. Even if there is a secondary market, it may not provide enough liquidity to allow you to trade or sell the Notes easily. Since other broker-dealers may not participate significantly in the secondary market for the Notes, the price at which you may be able to trade your Notes is likely to depend on the price, if any, at which the Dealer is willing to transact. If, at any time, the Dealer were to cease making a market in the Notes, it is likely that there would be no secondary market for the Notes. Accordingly, you should be willing to hold your Notes to maturity.

Potential Conflict of Interest Specific Risks

The Determination Agent, which is an affiliate of the Issuer, will make determinations with respect to the Notes. The Determination Agent will determine the Final Reference Rate, the Reference Rate Performance and the Final Redemption Amount. Any of these determinations may adversely affect the payout to investors. Moreover, certain determinations made by the Determination Agent may require it to exercise discretion and make subjective judgments, such as with respect to the Reference Rate. These potentially subjective determinations may adversely affect the payout to you on the Notes.

Our affiliates may publish research that could affect the market value of the Notes. One or more of our affiliates may, at present or in the future, publish research reports with respect to movements in interest rates generally or the Reference Rate specifically. This research is modified from time to time without notice to you and may express opinions or provide recommendations that are inconsistent with purchasing or holding the Notes. Any of these activities may affect the market value of the Notes.

Our affiliates expect to hedge our obligations under the Notes. In addition, our affiliates expect to hedge the our obligations under the Notes and they may realize a profit from that expected hedging activity even if investors do not receive a favorable investment return under the terms of the Notes or in any secondary market transaction.

Issuer Specific Risks

Investors are subject to our credit risk, and any actual or anticipated changes to our credit ratings or credit spreads may adversely affect the market value of the Notes. Investors are dependent on our ability to pay all amounts due on the Notes on any Interest Payment Dates and at maturity and therefore investors are subject to our credit risk and to changes in the market's view of our creditworthiness. If any companies in the Morgan Stanley group incur losses with respect to any of their activities, this may have a negative impact on our financial condition. If we default on our obligations under the Notes, your investment would be at risk and you could lose some or all of your investment. No assets of the Issuer are segregated and specifically set aside in order to pay the holders of the Notes in the event of liquidation of the Issuer, and the holders of the Notes will rank behind creditors who have priority rights over certain assets of the Issuer. As a result, the market value of the Notes prior to maturity will be affected by changes in the market's view of our creditworthiness. Any actual or anticipated decline in our credit ratings or increase in the credit spreads charged by the market for taking our credit risk is likely to adversely affect the value of the securities.

Other Risks

Tax and Accounting Considerations: Special tax and/or accounting considerations may apply to certain types of holders. Prospective investors are urged to consult with their own tax advisors and accounting advisors to determine any tax or accounting implications of this investment.

In purchasing any Notes, purchasers will be deemed to represent and undertake to the Issuer, the Guarantor, the Dealer and each of their affiliates that (i) such purchaser understands the risks and potential consequences associated with the purchase of the Notes, (ii) that such purchaser has consulted with its own legal, regulatory, investment, accounting, tax and other advisers to extent it believes is appropriate to assist it in understanding and evaluating the risks involved in, and the consequences of, purchasing the Notes, and (iii) in accordance with the terms set out in Annex I.

The Issuer, the Guarantor and the Dealer are not qualified to give legal, tax or accounting advice to its clients and do not purport to do so in this document. Clients are urged to seek the advice of their own professional advisers about the consequences of the provisions contained herein.

- (i) if on the Determination Date, the Final Reference Rate is greater than or equal to the Strike; the Calculation Amount; or
- (ii) if on the Determination Date, the Final Reference Rate is less than the Strike; an amount determined by the Determination Agent in accordance with the following formula:

$$\text{Calculation Amount} * \text{Reference Rate Performance}$$

provided that in any case, the Final Redemption Amount shall not be less than zero.

“Final Reference Rate” means the Reference Rate on the Determination Date;

“Reference Rate” means the 10-Year Euribor ICE Swap Rate, which is, in respect of any day, the annual fixed rate of interest payable on euro denominated interest rate swap transactions with a maturity of 10 years, which appears on Thomson Reuters Screen ICESWAP2 (or any successor page), as of approximately 11:00 a.m. Frankfurt time on such date.

If such rate does not appear on the relevant page on the relevant date, the rate will equal a rate determined by the Determination Agent in good faith and acting in a commercially reasonable manner.

If the 10-Year Euribor ICE Swap Rate has been permanently discontinued, the Determination Agent will use, as a substitute for such rate in respect of any date on which such rate is to be determined hereunder, the alternative reference rate selected by the central bank, reserve bank, monetary authority or any similar institution (including any committee or working group thereof) in the jurisdiction of the applicable index currency that is consistent with accepted market practice (the “Alternative Rate”). As part of such substitution, the Determination Agent will, after consultation with the Issuer, make such adjustments to the Alternative Rate, as well as the business day convention, determination dates and related provisions and definitions, in each case that are consistent with accepted market practice for the use of such Alternative Rate for debt obligations such as the Notes. If, however, the Determination Agent determines in good faith that no Alternative Rate exists on the relevant date, it shall make its own determination of an alternative rate as a substitute for the relevant rate, acting in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner;

“Reference Rate Performance” means:

Final Reference Rate / Strike

In no event, however, will the Reference Rate Performance be less than 0%;
